TO CORRESPONDENTS.

"Brentwood Lunatic Asylum Plans."—We do not consider it necessary to go into this disagreeable question, which is merely personal.

"Anston Stone."—"Z." will find the result of our visit to these quarries, Vol. VII. p. 365.

"Answering Letters."—A correspondent complains that "architects, generally neglect to answer business letters more than members of other professions." We have no reason to believe that the complaint applies particularly to them as a body.

"D."—How can our correspondent expect us to expose ourselves to odium without cause, when he is afraid to make himself liable, though in his own cause? With his name the statement shall be published, not without.

"T. C.," "An Amateur" (write to the manufacturer, [illegible]), "J. T. C." and "C. T.," "H.," "T. A." (shall appear), "Verax" (we are compelled to decline pointing out books), "J. P." (ditto), "P." PATENT CANNABIC ORNAMENTS, for ARCHITECTURAL and ORNAMENTAL DECORATIONS.—Warehouse, 29, Marylebone-street, Regent-street, London.—These admirable ornaments, of which there are already 1,000 patterns and a large stock ready, may vie in their finish and delicacy with metal, stone, or wood. They have been extensively used in Paris, and at the new gallery of the Louvre. In England they have been used to decorate Sadlers' Wells, and the whole of the Royal Italian Opera House, and many noblemen's and gentlemen's houses, and have obtained the Gold Medal of the Society of Arts for their peculiar fitness for internal and external architectural, decorative, and cabinet work. The material is strong, light, and perfectly incombustible; it neither shrinks nor cracks, and produces the finest, or boldest outlines, and gilds and burnishes up to the refulgence of solid metal. For small ornaments the price will be found to be 33 per cent. cheaper than papier maché, but for those of a larger size the deduction of price is considerably greater. The Album and tariff can be had at the warehouse, or of Mr. WEALE'S, 59, High Holborn.
